TWO CENTS

THREATEN TO INTRODUCE A BILL TO TAX ALL LIQUORS

"Drys" Say They Will Propose Such A Measure To Raise More Revenue

WILL MEET STIFF OPPOSITION

An interesting piece of legislation, which will affect a large number of people in Pennsylvania, is introduced at the present session of the Legislature, according to reports made by "dry" leaders.

The proposition is nothing less than to place a tax on all alcoholic beverages in Pennsylvania, and which have been stored up by individuals against the dry spell which will begin about the first of July. Announcement to this effect was made in Harrisburg on Wednesday.

The "dry" leaders take the stand that the state is in great need of additional revenue, and that the best way to raise it would be to tax the liquors, which are being collected by those who are preparing for the National drought, due next summer. The bill is considered by some as a counter-attack by the "drys" upon the legislation proposed by the "wets" which would allow the sale of beer and light wines in the state.

According to claims of the "dry" leaders, millions of dollars' worth of intoxicants are now piled up in the cellars of Pennsylvanians who do not intend to do without some kind of stimulant after July 1st. It was pointed out by the "drys" that the man who invested his money in diamonds, automobiles and other luxuries, would not pay some kind of a tax, and they insist that private stocks of liquors should also be taxed.

One of the officials at Harrisburg said that the bill "would start something." He also said he knew of one man who is supposed to have $10,000 worth of liquors in his wine cellar. If the bill is presented it will meet with vigorous opposition, as the "wets" claim enough of strength to defeat it.

OLD WIVES FOR NEW

CARRIES VITAL MESSAGE

The question of divorce, the justification thereof and the agencies that contribute toward the disruption of the domestic affairs of married people forms the vital message of "Old Wives for New" which is being shown at the Coyle theatre today. The old problem of divorce, the troubles of men who are forced away from their homes by wives gone to seed, to seek the love of other women are a few of the great social questions which are interestingly handled in this production.

IVANHOE POST OFFICE TO BE DISCONTINUED

The postoffice at Ivanhoe, Washington county, located near the Dunkirk mine on Pigeon creek will be discontinued on the 15th of March. The patrons of the office will be served from the Monongahela post-office.

WILL REPEAT THE HIGH SCHOOL PLAY

Owing to the unusual demand for seats for the production of "The Arrival of Kitty," which is to be presented at the high school auditorium this evening, in connection with the annual class exercises, it has been decided to repeat the performance on Friday evening of next week. All seats for this evening have been disposed of, and the repetition of the play has been arranged in order to meet the numerous requests of friends of the schools, who have been unable to secure seats for this performance.

WEST BROWNSVILLE WILL BE IN LINE

The citizens of West Brownsville will hold a public meeting this evening to take steps toward raising their share of the fund, which is to be used for the proposed changes in the rates of the Greensboro Gas company. The decision to call a public meeting was reached Monday evening at a meeting of the borough council, which stated that it would be impossible for it to take any hand in the matter, because it was not a consumer of gas. The suggestion to hold a citizens' meeting was then made and immediately adopted. It is expected that Brownsville and South Brownsville will also join with the other boroughs along this section of the valley in the proposed campaign to prevent the gas company from carrying out its proposed increase in rates, and particularly with reference to the ready-to-serve charge.

VICTORY STAMPS WILL SOON BE ON SALE

Victory postage stamps, a new three-cent issue to commemorate the successful conclusion of the war, will be on sale shortly throughout the country. In announcing the issue the post office department said the supply will not be sufficiently large to replace the regular three-cent stamp and postmasters would sell Victory stamps only on request.

SOON BE IN SHAPE

CAMPAIGN WILL CLOSE MARCH 19TH

The Protected Home Circle voted favorably on eight applications last night and initiated eleven candidates. This makes a grand total of 110 new members since January 1st of this year. It was also announced at this meeting that the fee to join would be raised after March 19, and it is expected that quite a number who contemplate joining the organization will avail themselves of the opportunity to save in the examination and initiation. The "Victory Supper" to be given in the lodge room at the close of the campaign on March 19 is assuming wonderful proportions and promises to be the greatest celebration ever given by the local Circle in their place of meeting. All members are looking toward that event with a great deal of anticipation. At the conclusion of the session last evening social features prevailed, music being furnished by the P. H. C. orchestra during which refreshments were served.

SOLDIER BOYS ARE ALLOWED TO SOLICIT

Two discharged soldiers, Charles B. Weimer and Theodore J. Housh, requested permission at the Borough Board meeting on Monday to solicit for a magazine published in Pittsburgh, and which is paid for on the installment plan. While the permission was granted Chief Albright to assure himself they were all right, telephoned the publishing house as to the reliability and authorization of the young men, and received word they were duly authorized to represent the company in soliciting subscriptions for the magazine. The young men have canvassed in Monessen and are now working in Charleroi meeting with considerable success.

John H. Harmon of Uniontown, an architect, was a Charleroi visitor this morning on a business mission.

BUSINESS MEN TO MEET THIS EVENING

Company Will Be Notified And Given Ten Days To Answer

OTHER PROTESTS ARE FILED

"NET INCOME" FOR TAXATION PURPOSES

"Net income," for the purpose of making out an income tax return, is gross income less certain deductions provided for by the revenue bill. The current act allows the ordinary and necessary expenses, and specifically includes salaries for personal services and retails paid for business purposes.

Losses incurred by a taxpayer in any transaction entered into for profit outside of his regular line of business are allowed. Under the 1917 act deductions for such losses were allowed only to the extent of gains in similar transactions. If, for example, a person made $1,000 in one stock market transaction and in another lost $5,000, he was required to include the $1,000 in his return as gross income and could deduct only that amount as a loss. Under the current act he is allowed a net deduction of $4,000.

A reasonable allowance is made for the depletion of oil and gas wells, other natural deposits and timber and for depreciation of improvements "according to the peculiar conditions in each case."

Contributions or gifts made during the year 1918 to corporations, organized for charitable, scientific, religious or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, may be deducted to an amount not exceeding 15 per cent of the taxpayer's net income. Other items which may be deducted are as follows:

Taxes paid or accrued, except income, war profits and excess profit taxes and those assessed against local benefits of a kind tending to improve the value of the property.

Losses in trade or business if not compensated for by insurance or otherwise.

Loss of property not connected with trade or business is arising from fires, storms, shipwreck or other casualty, or from theft, if not compensated for by insurance or otherwise.

Debts ascertained to be worthless and charged off within the year. Interest paid or accrued on indebtedness, except indebtedness incurred to purchase securities, the interest on which is exempt from tax.

The following items are not deductible: personal, family or living expenses. Amounts expended for new buildings or permanent improvements made to improve the value of the property. Amounts expended in restoring property or in making good exhaustion thereof for which an allowance for depreciation has been made. Premiums paid on any life insurance policy covering the life of any officer or employee or any other person financially interested in the trade of business carried on by the taxpayer, when the taxpayer is directly or indirectly a beneficiary in the policy.

Attorney D. M. McCloskey is in receipt of a letter from the Public Service Commission of Pennsylvania and signed by its Secretary, A. E. Miller which says that the complaint made by the citizens of Charleroi against the Greensboro Gas Company has been filed as of February 28, 1919, docket number 2665. The letter further states that a copy of the complaint has been sent to the company for answer within ten days.

Residents of Coal Centre on Wednesday filed a similar complaint against the Greensboro Gas company's new rates as being unjust and unreasonable. At the same time the complaints charged that the company failed to file and post notices of the increase as provided for under the rules of the Public Service Commission.

It is expected that other complaints from towns in this section of the valley supplied by the Greensboro company will be placed on file within a few days, and the issue between the citizens and the company clearly drawn.

The filing of statements is the preliminary step to be taken by the complainants in bringing their case before the Public Service Commission, which will appoint a "GROCER" at which the citizens public hearing will be held. The increase in rates and the addition of a ready-to-serve charge. The company will also present its side of the case, with the final decision to be made by the Public Service Commission.

The various local committees appointed at the citizens' committee two weeks ago are looking after the details assigned to them, and when the day of hearing arrives hope to have everything in good shape to make a strong presentation of the case from the citizens' standpoint. Due announcement will be made of the date of hearing.

Notice.

Applications for a janitor for the new Borough Building will be received by the Borough clerk until March 18, 1919.

THE HUM OF INDUSTRY.

You can sing no song of prosperity save to the accompaniment of the hum of industry. When industry lags prosperity takes wings.

Factory smoke may mar the brightness of the skies but it works wonders with the brightness in the home.
And its brightness we are needing in the homes of America today.

We've had enough of gloom the last 18 months to last for a long time.
Bringing the boys back will help tremendously. But if the boys come back to a poverty of jobs it will be another story.

Some of them have come to just that thing. If you're doubtful scan the "Situation Wanted" column of the daily paper.

To make it worse America has acquired the habit of good times during the past four years. The world war caused the nations of Europe simply to bombard us with orders of all sorts that enforced prosperity.

Everything went ballooning. wages along with the rest. The average man made more money and more easily than he ever had in his life. Not infrequently habits of extravagance developed.

But the fact is that Americans generally expect these conditions to continue. There is no reason why they should not, why the bottom should fall out of things at all. We have a far better opportunity than our foreign neighbors.

Yet we will have to do our part to make the most of these opportunities.
Uncle Sam owes a tremendous amount of money to American industries. Something like $2,000,000,000 it has been stated. And he wants to pay it. The industries need it to branch out along independent lines.

And the Victory-Like-Keels will pay these debts. Victory-Like-Keels are a high speed. Stave off industrial stagnation.

That's exactly what all of us want to see done. We want things to boom.
How much our bond purchases will indicate.

So help make industry hum.

THE RIGHT OF CRITICISM

In the making of peace there is obviously far more room for controversy, and a far greater likelihood of vary, and a far greater opinion than there have been in the waging of war, and the right and duty of criticism are therefore commensurately greater. It would have been far better for the president to have discussed his peace terms with those constitutional advisors (who must finally pass upon them, before starting upon his stump speaking tour of Europe.
If he had done so, and had come to a substantial agreement, the wisdom, and propriety of going abroad would still have been most dubious, but at any rate he cannot now say that he represented the will of the American government and nation. He did not do so. He preferred to present his plans to European audiences rather than to the American Congress. In that case he must not complain if criticism follows instead of precedes such alien presentation. "The hand of criticism is not to be forced simply by lighting it. Approval of policy is not to be secured by refraining from seeking it. The right and the duty of patriotic criticism will be exercised, and it will not be the fault of the critics, nor, we are confident, to the detriment of the country, if the criticism is made at a time not the most convenient or acceptable to the objects of it.—North American Review

THE LEAGUE CONSTITUTION.

It is reported that Senator Knox has been approached to assist in framing a constitution for the proposed League of Nations that would be acceptable to all parties. It seems to be assured that the constitution provided by President Wilson is not acceptable to a great number of American people, and moreover it seems to be defeated as already 39 Senators have signified their intention of not only opposing it, but likewise voting against it should it come before the Senate in its present form.
Thirty-three senators will defeat it.
It requires a two-thirds vote to approve a treaty.

is statu of the situation may rea number of compromises, but in any event unless the constitution of this League shall be absolutely acceptable, it apparently has but little show of becoming part of the treaty of peace. The proposed constitution was severely arraigned in Congress, and just as stoutly supported, but it was primarily responsible for the fil-luster which caused so many important bills to fail in the closing hours of Congress.

DAYLIGHT SAVING SAVED

In the closing days of Congress, which were very strenuous in the Senate, the repealer for the daylight saving bill was lost in the shuffle.
This failure on the part of Congress to do anything with this measure will meet with approbation on some quarters, while in others it will be condemned. The farmers particularly are reported as being opposed to the daylight saving measure, claiming that it is a discrimination against them, particularly in harvest time, when it is impossible to work in the early morning hours because of the dark. On the other hand, the greater number of people are satisfied with the measure, as it gives them an extra hour in many cases utilized in a small family garden which helps to reduce the high cost of living. However, an additional session of the measure may show us many additional good points that no further efforts will be made to repeal it.

THE WAR CONGRESS

The United States War Congress adjourned sine die at 12 o'clock noon Tuesday. During the period of its existence the United States fought the greatest war in its history; it raised more money and expended greater wealth than in all the previous wars in the history of the country. No President could ask greater support than that given by the 65th Congress in the way of making appropriations and backing up administration policies. So far as the members were concerned, politics were adjourned for the time. In order that the full resources of the country might be put behind the nation's effort to bring the great war to a close. Its work accomplished, the Congress now passes into history.

During the last decade, says the Indian Commissioner of Canada, the Indian population has been increasing but in a way fortunately that decreases to so-called Indian problem.
Canada, in fact, feels that the Indian problem is pretty well settled.
The modern red Indian is civilized, and the descendant of the aboriginal tribes are now for the most part educated farmers and in fair proportion, drivers of their own automobiles.
Such information from Canada makes even more hopeful the recent reports of constantly improving conditions among the Indians in the United States; but one feels also that these Canadian Indians have been more wisely helped and less selfishly hindered, in the past, by their white neighbors.

The government railroad administration has a deficit of about a quarter of a billion dollars, with the balance on the wrong side growing at the rate of one million dollars per day. Congress has failed to pass the revolving fund of $750,000,000 for the railroad administration, and it looks as if the transportation lines are headed on their way back to the original owners. From a financial standpoint it cannot be said that the United States has made a success of railroad running. It might be just as well to give the job back to those who are skilled in the calling.

That valued exchange, The Congressional Record, will now cease to exist until Congress reassembles. At that, the publication, during recent weeks, has contained some mighty interesting reading.

There are over seven million reasons why William Hohenzollern should be punished as a felon; every man killed in the late war furnishes those reasons.

President Wilson is now on the last half of his administration, as well as on his way to Paris.

AGED MAN ON LONG WALK TO FORMER HOME

Deputy Sheriff William Greenlee of Bentleyville, in coming down the National pike from Washington to Beallsville a few days ago, picked up a rather interesting old man, a former resident of the Brownsville section, who was walking from a point some 160 miles west of St. Louis to his former home. It was learned that the man's name was Marietta, and that at one time he conducted a store in Brownsville. He was about 70 years of age. He had relatives living between Brownsville and Uniontown and it was to them he was going, expecting to again locate in that community.

Becoming financially embarrassed and having no funds, he decided to walk east. He had been on the road four weeks, and in that time had opportunities to ride but 14 miles. He depended upon what he could solicit at homes enroute for his food, and he slept any place he could find at night.
One night he gave up trying to find any place and just made a bed along the road and spent the night there, despite the fact that it was raining and snowing. In some respects he had enjoyed the trip.

He told Mr. Greenlee that he had two sons in the U. S. service. Mr.
Greenlee brought the man as far as Beallsville, from where he continued his way to Brownsville, where he said friends would see that he arrived at his destination.

The war congress is at an end, but is the war over?

Made Jest of Death.
For sheer eccentricity the will of a military official is hard to beat.
Many years before he had made up his mind to end his life by hanging himself, and for this purpose actually planted a special noose tree. On the trip he placed the following inscription:
"Tree, which I straightened and tended in my young years, sustain me in my old age." In his will he left $100 for prizes for a bowling match to be played over his grave, and sufficient money was left to provide for a banquet for 80 of his friends to be served around his coffin.

Tiger Still a Terror.
The destructive powers of the tiger are worthy of fearless admiration. In one year tigers in India killed 1,000 human beings. In the same year, human beings, with all the advantage of traps and poison and high-power rifles, killed 1,205 tigers. "He of the Hairy Face," as the Malays call the striped brute, held his own pretty well, in spite of the handicap under which he labored. Studying these figures one can understand what a thing of terror the tiger must have been in the days before gunpowder came into use.

WOMEN ARE BOOSTING! YOU CAN'T FOOL THEM

Once you have shown them and let believe is a good thing.

Hundreds of women in our city are

You tired to sleep and get up

I certainly was a nervous wreck. I Look at me now. Work is a pleasure.

I am just building over with good spirits, the picture of health, cheeks rosy and full of the color that only blood can give. I have not a phosphate nerve as steady as a clock, nothing worries me. I sleep a top and feel like a girl of 20.
Take it from me, I want Phosphate Iron to get all of the credit. You cannot be said in its praise, and friends are boosting it.
There is no need of any more of man going around with that tired, all-feeling or any form of nervousness.
They take a brace, and stand up to a package of Phosphate Iron, it's a spruce you up and make you feel like a

OLD AGE STARTS WITH YOUR KIDNEYS

Science says that old age begins with weakened kidneys and digestive organs.
This being true, it is easy to believe that by keeping the kidneys and digestive organs cleansed and in proper working order old age can be deferred and life prolonged far beyond that enjoyed by the average person.
For over 200 years GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil has been relieving the weakness and disability due to advancing years. It is a standard old-time home remedy and needs no introduction.
GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil is enclosed in odorless, tasteless capsules containing about 3 drops each. Take them as you would a pill, with a swallow of water. The oil stimulates the kidney action and enables the organs to throw off the poisons which cause premature old age. New life and strength increase as you continue the treatment. When completely restored continue taking a capsule or two each day. GOLD MED-AL Haarlem Oil Capsules will keep you in health and vigor and prevent a return of the disease.
Do not wait until old age or disease have settled down for good. At the first sign that your kidneys are not working properly, go to your druggist and get a box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. Money refunded if they do not help you. Three sizes. But re-

RABELAIS PROVED A PROPHET

Events He Recorded, in Tale for the Nursery, Have Now Become Assured Facts.

When Pantagruel took leave of the good Gargantua, his royal father, and took shipping at the port of Thalassa for Catay, in upper India, he completed in four months the voyage which it took the Portuguese three years to complete, says the Christian Science Monitor. Many leagues then lay between father and son, but they communicated. That is the point in turning over the leaves of the book at this hour, when the dream of the dominion of the air, which has haunted the imaginations of men for centuries, has come true. Pantagruel, busily making purchases at the fair somewhere in Asia, hears a joyful cheer and sees that one of his father's advice boats has arrived—"that Ship was light as a Lark, so that it seemed rather to fly on the Sea than to sail."

Pantagruel asked Malicorne, the bearer of dispatches, whether he had Gonzal, the heavenly messenger. "Yes, Sir, here it is swaddled up in this Basket." It was a grey Pigeon which Pantagruel caused to be undressed and a white ribbon tied to its feet. The Pigeon presently flew away and in two hours it compassed the air, and Gargantua, hearing it had a white ribbon on, was joyful and secure in his son's welfare. That is Rabelais' little story, a tale for the nursery, but with all the potentialities which, in the fullness of time, have been realized.

DUMAS A PROLIFIC AUTHOR

But His Output of Books and Plays Averaged Him Nothing When He Sought Election.

One of the most original election addresses on record was that issued by Dumas pere in 1848, when he stood for a division of Paris. Although Dumas had been an ardent republican long before the downfall of Louis Philippe, it was mainly as an employer of labor that he sought the suffrages of democracy. "During the past 20 years (he wrote, it is recalled) I have composed 400 volumes and 35 plays. Each volume averaged a sale of 4,000 copies, and each play averaged 100 performances. I have thus helped to give employment to printers, papermakers, bookbinders, booksellers, etc.; also to actors, actresses, stage hands, scene painters, theatrical costumers, etc. The sale of my works produced about 11,833,000 francs, and the money paid to see my plays totaled about 6,360,000 francs. Taking the average daily wage of all concerned at three francs, and reckoning 300 working days to the year, my books have kept 692 persons for 20 years and my plays have kept 1,041 persons for the same period. This address, of which huge quantities were distributed, failed in its purpose. Two years later Dumas sought election for Guadeloupe, and was again defeated. This so disgusted him that he never tried for election again.

Contest in Crimes.

Statistics proving that the states of the West and middle West are veritable hotbeds of burglary, as compared with eastern states, may be found in the widespread reports of robberies committed, through interchange of crime, tabulations for the past year. Illinois stands far and above all other states in the reports of 1,156 burglaries, selected at random from more than ten times that number of robberies committed which were covered or partly covered by insurance. Missouri is second on the list with 75; Pennsylvania third, with 72; Ohio fourth, with 66. Judging from western methods employed by burglars who have made big hauls in and around New York in the last few weeks, burglary insurance underwriters believe there has been a strong influx of western crooks to that part of the country, and that New York city is developing the biggest crime wave in its history.

War Makes Deer Migrate.

War has driven the deer of Massachusetts from one of their favorite stands. When the six days' open season started hunters who have been accustomed to stalk the animals in the Nashua River valley in the central part of the state had to find a new objective, for what was once a great area of scrub growth is now the cantonment city Camp Devens.

Reports from towns a short distance away indicate that large numbers of deer have found refuge in woods not many miles away.

Sportsmen anticipated a leaner season than for many years, a comparative scarcity of deer being reported by residents of rural districts.

Invalid's Remarkable Work.

Miles Ingeborg Brun, the maker of the nine-inch globe representing Mars that was lately presented to M. Flammarion, is a Danish woman who has been confined to her bed 20 years. The planet is shown in correct colors, and all canals and other features noted by the latest observers of Mars are mapped. The work modernized the two globes long ago made by the French astronomer himself.

"Coal," said a government official, "will be scarce this winter, but nobody is going to freeze to death."

"You hear everywhere the most exaggerated stories about the scarcity of coal. In my office the other day I warned an office boy that if he didn't do better I'd have to haul him over the coals. The boy grinned."

"But," he said, "there ain't none to haul me over, is there, sir?"

"TREASURES" IN THE CELLAR

Cleaner Finds Many Things Stored There, With More or Less Interesting History.

Health drive is on this week, and every good Brooklynite will go down in his cellar and clean out all the rubbish and useless stuff except possibly the furnace. When one is engaged in this sort of work he runs across lots of old forgotten stuff.

He unearths crayon portraits of Uncle Hiram and Aunt Maria, made with an air brush in exchange for 400 coupons and $2. They were intended for the parlor, but reached the cellar after throwing the old family canary into convulsions; and there is the wreck of the old whatnot that grandma gave you. It used to stand in the corner of the parlor, filled with old family pictures, sharks' eyes, Indian bead work and other terrible monstrosities that children gazed upon with awe. And as you come across it you remember that the first thing you did after dear grandma passed away was to bustle the whatnot down below, back of a pair of moth-eaten portieres.

And you find your pair of white flannel trousers that you wore to a picnic and sat down in on a blackberry pie. And you recall the trouble and embarrassment you had getting home, and of how, when you had the trousers cleaned, the big stain turned green and the trousers went into the discard. And you run across the first silk hat you ever wore, which made you look like an undertaker, and the vase which you smashed and blamed on the cat, causing an innocent feline to lose a good home; and the tie your wife bought you, on which you deliberately spilled ink, for which no one could blame you. And so you go along rooting out one old article after another, piling them in heaps to wait for the ashman and the junkman, humming that old hymn, "Sic Transit Gloria Mundi."—Brooklyn Standard Union.

NOT ARDENT WORDS OF LOVE

At First, Though, It Would Seem That Salesman Was Addressing His Adored One.

"No one ever loved you half as well as I do," he said to her.

She made no answer. "How did you come to love me?" he pleaded. Still the girl refused to speak, although she smiled encouragingly at this.

"Your name is written on my heart. The world is dark without you. I've built a bungalow for you and me. Let us fly to an isle in the tropic sea. The kiss you gave me set my heart on fire."

The girl was not offended. She scowled a little, but not at him. She

ALLENPORT SPORTS LOSE POKER CASH

A hold-up is reported to have taken place in Allenport last Sunday night, in which a poker game was raided by three masked men, and the "pot," which was on the table, and consisting of $300 in cash was taken by the raiders.

According to the report this game in which some eight men were engaged, was in progress in a building somewhat isolated from the general traffic, but which nevertheless has quite a reputation for some of the incidents that have taken place there in the past. While the game was at its height, the door was suddenly thrown open and three masked men appeared. Two of them held automatic guns on the players and demanded that they stand and hold up their hands. While they were in this position the third man swept the cash from the table into his pockets after which all three men backed out of the room, compelling the players in the meantime to turn their backs toward the door. This unexpected "raid" of course broke up the game, while the raiders after retiring from the room made good their escape.

Details of the incident are just leaking out in Allenport, and as the names of some of the players are known it is believed that further facts concerning the hold-up will soon be made public.

A coroner's jury in Monessen on Wednesday held Martinkovich, charged with the murder of his wife, for the Westmoreland county grand jury. The accused was taken to the Greensburg jail Wednesday afternoon. The funeral of the murdered woman also took place yesterday, interment in Highland cemetery.

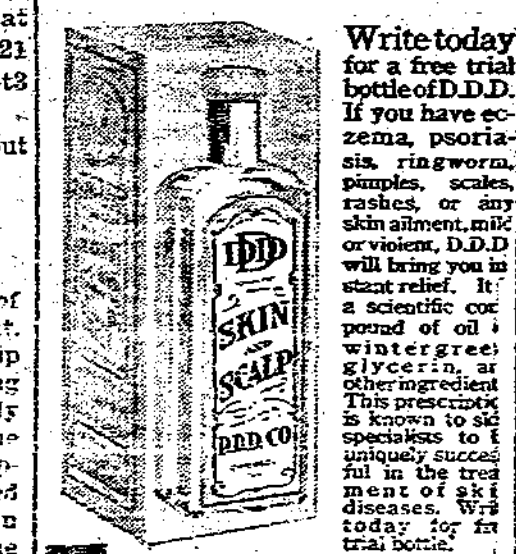

Prof. E. E. Bach, head of the Sociological department of the Ellsworth Collieries Company, and who has been connected with the Pennsylvania Council of National Defense in the months past, was in Charleroi Wednesday afternoon on his way to Philadelphia, to complete some work in connection with the state organization.

CONVOY SERVICE AGREES WITH HIM

Corporal Ed. E. Pitzer of the 309th Supply Train, now stationed at Marseilles, France, writes the following letter to the Mail:

Marseilles, France, Feb. 7, 1919--Editor Mail--Dear Sir--I am writing these few lines to let all know I am well and hope that Charleroi soon throws off that dreaded disease of the flu.

I notice in reading the Charleroi papers I have just received the suggestion of raising a nice flag. I am sure this is a good act to do. I can just imagine how good I would feel to see the American flag waving bright and clean when I set foot in Charleroi.

I am now located in the beautiful city of Marseilles. Since I have been in France I have seen quite a number of places of interest. At present I am doing convoy work from Marseilles to almost all parts of France, and also into Germany. The work agrees with me very much. I have passed through several cities of historic interest, among them Avignon, where the old papal throne and cathedral are, and Orange, France, which contains the beautiful arch through which Joan of Arc passed; also Tours and Lyons.

Charleroi is surely well represented over here. While at Le Mans I met two lads from home and here I have met George Wentzel and Sergeant Bryan. George wears three service stripes and also two wound stripes. He was in the battle of Cantigny, where he was wounded once in the arm and once in the back.

I must close my little letter, for the call will soon be sounded for "lights out." Before closing I want to express the hope that Charleroi wins the tablet, and I am sure it will for Charleroi has never failed.

With best regards,
Corp. Earl E. Pitzer,

CONSIDER THIS WOMAN'S CASE

Mrs. A. L. DeVine of Los Angeles, Cal., says: "After I had suffered from a female trouble for years, not being able to do my housework, or get any relief from doctors, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me a well woman, and I want to tell the world the good this medicine does." This woman is perfectly justified, and should be commended for telling others how she regained her health.
